THE NEWS.

If letters from Europe may be believed, France and England have fallen in love with our currency system and talk of adopting it themselves.

A caucus of the democratic members of Congress, has appointed a committee to draft an address to the people of the country. Sounding brass and tinkling cymbal isn't the music the people keep stop to now.

The committee seems to be all right except that "Fornady Wood" and Jeff Davis are left off. A mere oversight we presume.

The Washington Republican wants the rebel army in Virginia overthrown. So do all other loyal people.

Colt's extensive pistol factory at Hartford, Conn., has been burned, involving a loss of half a million of dollars and several lives.

Maximilian is as cautious about seating himself on the Mexican throne as boys are of treading on thin and dangerous ice. If he is not careful he will get his foot in.

The Danish question does not seem to be so much settled as it was. We expect the old world powers will get by the ears over this or some other question soon.

Our afternoon dispatches state that Maximilian has "put his foot in" by accepting the throne.

There seem to have been stormy doings in North Carolina, but just what has been done isn't so clear by the dispatches. It looks, however, as though our doings had gained a success and lost a gunboat.

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.—The communication of the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitted to the House, in answer to a resolution of that body, contains statements of the practical operation of the Reciprocity treaty, from which it appears that the domestic product of manufactures exported to Canada under that treaty for the fiscal year ending June, 1863, amounted to about $18,500,000. The imports from Canada for the same period were $12,807,000.

The exports of breadstuffs increased from $226,000 in 1849 to $8,588,000. Our exports of Manufactures have been reduced from $4,180,000 in 1856 to $1,511,000 in 1863. The exports from Buffalo and eastward ports were in 1863, $0,088,000. The tonnage of transportation by the Welland Canal was 15,000 to Canadian ports and 72,000 to United States ports, and by the St. Lawrence Canal 23,000 tons to United States ports. The Secretary gives numerous tabular statements with reference to the Canadian trade, but makes no recommendation on the subject.

CEN. WASHINGTON.—The Washington correspondent of the Milwaukee Wisconsin, says: "Major General Cadwallader C. Washburn, of your State, is now in this city, on a short leave of absence from his command. He receives many congratulations for the success of his military career, which has been all that the most ambitious man could desire. His courage and discretion, manifested on many battle-fields, have made his name an honored one in official circles."

OCCUPATION FOR REBEL PRISONERS.—The attention of Government is now occupied in considering the practicability of putting the rebel prisoners to work. It is calculated that they could be of inestimable service in repairing the roads which they have assisted in destroying, and perhaps, in making other public improvements.

ANOTHER CASE OF CONSCIENTIOUS RESISTANCE.—The sum of $70 has been received at the Treasury Department, in a letter dated Boston, which said it was for duty on an article, not designed for sale, imported some years ago. The writer says the compound interest and premium on gold have been added to the amount originally due.

THE ARKANSAS CONVENTION has elected Judge Clayton as Provisional Governor.—His record on the Union question is a good one. In the Arkansas Convention which adopted the Secession ordinance, he was the only one who voted against it. For this he was expelled; for this, in connection with his other qualities, he is now made Governor by the Union people.—Time and cannon have made all things right.

DESERTIONS FROM THE REBEL ARMY.—Every day brings us confirmation of the value of the President's Proclamation of Amnesty as a means of weakening and destroying the morale of the rebel armies.—When squads of from five to thirty men desert daily from an army in the field and go over to the opposing force, it may be presumed that other squads of still greater numbers desert to return to their homes.—All this must have a terribly depressing effect upon the officers and men who continue to stick by the rebel flag.

CLAIM FOR HEAVY DAMAGES.—According to the Rock Island Argus, "A libel has been filed in the United States District Court by the Minnesota Packet Company, against the Rock Island Bridge. The damages are laid at $72,000, which, it is alleged, will only cover the injuries sustained by the vessels of the libellants from the action of the respondent."

The Sorghum Convention.

[From the Madison Journal.]

This body was attended on the 3d inst., by about sixty or seventy residents of this and adjoining counties, being substantial farmers and intelligent men, interested in the development of the resources of the State.

The convention met in the basement of the Capitol, at 12 o'clock, and was called to order by President Willey. W. P. Maxon, of Watworth, was then elected Temporary Chairman, and O. S. Willey, of Dane, Secretary. Messrs. Clark, Skinner, Hutchinson, Jovett and Canamick, were appointed a committee to report permanent officers, and Messrs. D. J. Powers, O. S. Willey, J. Q. Catlin, a committee to report business. The committee reported the following permanent officers, their report being unanimously adopted:

President—David Atwood, of Dane.

Secretaries—O. S. Willey, and J. C. Plumb, of Dane.

During the afternoon, members were requested to give their experience as to the best soil on which to grow Sorghum.—Messrs. C. A. Johnson, Hagitt, Davis and Taylor, growers of the cane in this county, all concurred that a black, sandy loam, rich and now, was the best soil, and that the higher the land the better for the maturity and sweetness of the cane, and preserving it from frost.

Mr. A. I. Hedges of Chicago, being a gentleman experienced in Sorghum culture, and the author of a valuable hand book on the subject, was called on to address the meeting, and he did so very entertainingly and instructively, answering numerous questions put to him on the subject, very readily and pertinently. He had now dropped sorghum culture and was afflicted with flux on the brain, the culture of which he was sure possessed every element of success and profit. Men to be able to take advantage of the experiences of others should be emphatically reading and observing men, and he was once acquainted with a farmer who, for the want of a newspaper, sold his beeswax for 35 cents per pound, when other farmers got 60 cents. In growing sorghum, selecting the seed should always be from the highest and ripest stalks in the field. The lamplighter variety could be worked before being ripe, and he believed it was the only cane, that with safety, might be so treated. Rich new soil, not too high, nor too low, was the best to plant in. Care should be taken to keep cane free from the influence of broom corn, as when growing near such a field, a prejudicial mixture was likely to result.

I used time to clarify the juice, as is done really everywhere. Milk of lime is the best and most available agent, and my experience has proved that a proportion of lime dust is an excellent cleanser. When mature canes are threatened with frost they should be topped over into winrows without stripping. Cane kept long, when the temperature is low undoubtedly get sweeter. I would rather work clean cane, than cane with leaves on. I believe that by planting sprouted seed, taking care to have the earth fresh. Deep plowing should always be done. Bone coal or charcoal are the usual relining agents. From 5 to 8 per cent, covers the waste in rolling and from 10 to 15 cents per gallon should cover the cost of relining. Raw unrefined syrup is the best and most wholesome for culinary purposes. A bushel of Sorghum seed, was likely to weigh 60 pounds to the bushel, and he regarded it for cattle feed as good or better than oats. He gave a variety of information about the making of vinegar from the syrup, which could be done very successfully and profitably, and about a new variety of seed producing a very choice cane, which was called the Librarian.

He concluded by stating that he was on a mission to make arrangements for the cultivation of flax in this State, and was prepared to find farmers with seed and give them $10 per acre for growing it, the flax to be delivered rotted at a certain point in each county. This plant could be easily and successfully cultivated nearly from the poles to the equator, and the growth of the cultivation was beyond a question, and under existing circumstances, he was prepared to show that it would be exceedingly profitable. Those wishing to try the culture, under the auspices of the Company he was associated with, could get full information and encouragement by application to L. A. Hedges, Chicago, Ill.

On motion of D. J. Powers, the thanks of the Convention were given to Mr. Hedges for his pleasant and instructive remarks, and he was invited to again address the Convention. The Convention then adjourned till evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention met in the evening and discussed the best time for planting and the best land for planting on. Resolutions were adopted that high and dry land was the best, and recommending that when extensive crops are to be grown, both early and late varieties should be sown, so as to give a succession of ripening for convenience in manufacturing the syrup.

THURSDAY'S SESSION.

A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee to publish the report of the convention in suitable form for gratuitous distribution. The chairman announced the following committee that he was empowered by resolution yesterday afternoon to appoint:

Machinery—Wm. Blair, Waukesha; O. P. Dow, Jefferson; James Canamick, Dane; J. C. Plumb, Dane; J. P. Turner, Dane; E. M. Sexton, Richland; N. M. Webster, Allouez.

Syrup—C. H. Wright, Crawford; C. A. Johnson, Dane; E. W. Young, Sauk.

Several interesting communications on Sorghum culture were read. Discussions were held throughout the morning on various branches of the culture, and resolutions expressing the sense of the Convention on them were adopted, which we will give again.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Local Matters.

Our readers will find a batch of interesting local matter on the fourth page.

Visit of the Legislative Committee to the Blind Asylum.

The Committee appointed by the Legislature to visit the charitable institutions of the State, performed their duties so far as the Institute for the Blind was concerned, yesterday. The committee from the Senate were, Messrs. W. E. Smith, chairman, John E. Thomas and A. M. Kimball.—From the Assembly Messrs. A. C. Barry, chairman, Wm. R. Beach, J. V. Eviston, Alonzo Wilcox and D. C. Roundy. All were present except Mr. Kimball, who was unavoidably absent.

In the forenoon the usual exercise of the Institute were gone through with and to the delight of the visitors. The proficiency exhibited by the pupils in the various branches of study was highly creditable both to the pupils and instructors, and show that the former are apt and willing and the latter patient and indefatigable in their labors. We had the pleasure of hearing the recitation in mental arithmetic, which was creditable in the highest degree to the class. So rapid were the answers given to the questions that we much doubt if the legislators present were not put to their trumps to follow them.

After the classes were dismissed, the committee, piloted by the Superintendent—Mr. Little—and several of the Trustees went over the house and premises. In every room and department the most complete order and scrupulous neatness prevailed, and the committee expressed their pleasure in the strongest terms at what they saw. The institution under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Little is most admirably conducted, and we observe that the pupils seemed very much attached to them.

After the company had dined, an examination of the old wing of the building was had, and a most wretched condition it was found to be in. It is wholly uncomfortable for occupancy, and looks dangerous, the walls being cracked from top to bottom. This portion of the building should be replaced at the earliest possible moment by a good substantial structure.

But the Trustees of the Asylum do not ask nor expect to get an appropriation for building a wing this year, but they do ask with great good reason for a new workshop. The building used for that purpose now, might answer for a barn, if the person using it hadn't much hay and didn't care how he used his stock sheltered in it. It is totally unfit, however, for the purpose to which it is now devoted. We copy from the annual report of the Trustees a paragraph bearing upon the subject:

"Leaving the question of rebuilding the west wing entirely out of view, the Trustees cannot but consider the immediate erection of a building in which to carry on the mechanical instruction of the young men of the Institute, as a matter of prime necessity. A majority of these unfortunate youth, however well they may be educated in other respects, will eventually, if not here taught some trade, be liable to support themselves, become life-long burdens upon the community. And let him consider who can, the utter wretchedness of that blind youth, who after years of hopeful exertion, stimulated by a praiseworthy ambition to become a useful member of society, self-supporting, self-respected, at last sits down with cultivated mind but ill-trained hands, to feed in darkness upon the bread of charity. Or let the man, who, with two good eyes and two stout hands, finds labor easy and lives happy, consider his condition, if his eyes should fail to discover the light and his "right hand" thus "forget her cunning," when in all the land there is no place in which he may be taught with darkened eyes to earn his daily bread."

It is to be hoped that the Legislature will not promptly and liberally in this matter, and appropriate a sufficient sum to erect a good workshop.

The committee having completed a survey of the entire premises, were regaled with some fine music by the pupils of the Institute. A few appropriate remarks by the Hon. Mr. Barry were afterward made, when the committee took its departure.

While so much credit is due the Superintendent and his assistants, we cannot overlook the able and efficient service rendered by the Trustees. The watchful and judicious care exercised by them is worthy of all praise.

As we looked around upon those sightless children, saw them busy at their studies, their work and their play, we could but feel thankful for the Christian munificence of the State which planted and sustains this institution for these unfortunate ones, and heaven will not fail to reward the labors of the gentlemen Trustees, who are so faithfully performing their duties.

The following is a list of Trustees and officers:

Trustees—R. B. Trent, M. D., President; B. B. Eldredge, Treasurer; H. W. Collins, Secretary; S. W. Smith, Orrin Guernsey, Henry Harpke.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SCHOLARS OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Scholars and Teachers of the Presbyterian Sabbath School are invited to meet the Superintendent at his house this evening at 7 o'clock.

TO THE PATRIOTIC AND HUMANE—SOMETHING IN WHICH EVERYBODY IS INTERESTED.—Inasmuch as considerable sums of money are, and will be, needed to supply the various demands upon us for patriotic and benevolent purposes, and as the desire for amusement may very properly be used as an auxiliary in this good work, it is proposed to institute a series of musical and other entertainments, the proceeds to be devoted to that object.

As this is a matter of general interest, it is thought advisable to call a meeting to take such action in the premises as may be deemed expedient. To that end all are invited to meet at the Court Room to-morrow (Saturday) evening, at 7 o'clock.

MANY CITIZENS.

THE CITY COUNCIL.—Messrs. Editors: It is stated, in a communication to the paper of this evening, that the city never obligated itself legally to pay the balance due recruits upon the $40 city bounty of 1862, which is true. Whether this is a duty "more honored in the breach than in the observance," I do not assume to say; neither do I wish to take exceptions to anything said by your correspondent.

But what I do wish to say is this:—There seems to be a growing interest upon the matter in question, and justice to all demands that the facts should be fully stated; this, with your permission, I will now proceed to do, as fairly and briefly as I can.

About August, 1862, at large meetings, composed of all classes of the city of Janesville, it was voted that each person volunteering, after a certain date, in the city should receive a bounty of $40, to be raised by subscription. Under this promise men enough volunteered to fill the quota. By public meetings, discussions and personal effort, a large proportion of the money was raised.—But it was ascertained that the amount was only sufficient to pay the recruits $30 instead of $40 as promised. The latter were to leave by a certain day. They were unwilling to go without the full bounty, saying if they did the matter would be forgotten. What should be done? Other meetings were called, and discussions had as to the best means of raising the money. The volunteers were present and waiting for an answer. Some claimed that meetings should be kept up and the same efforts made as before. Others thought the whole matter could be better managed by a committee of three to take such course as they saw fit. Of this number were Messrs. Richardson and Sloan. The question was asked: "What if the money cannot be raised by subscription? Mr. Sloan replied that an application could be made to the Common Council to issue scrip or assume the whole matter, which they would undoubtedly do, such assumption to be legalized by future legislation if necessary. Mr. S. added very emphatically, "Why, it would be a lasting shame and disgrace to the city of Janesville, if its people should allow these men to go away, and then neglect to pay them this bounty." This was his language substantially, and I think, nearly word for word. Messrs. Richardson, Burgess, and many others spoke in a similar vein, and were fully endorsed by the audience. I am quite sure one or two men or more of reputed wealth also arose and stated that they would be personally responsible for the bounty, or a portion of it.

Messrs. Richardson, Sloan and Burgess were appointed a committee to carry out the plan above suggested. On the strength of these assurances the recruits left for the field. I am informed the Hon. H. S. Conger afterwards drew up a petition to the Common Council upon the subject, which was presented by the committee and rejected by the Council.

What further has been done by the committee, I do not pretend to state, nor do I allude to the above matters at all, for the purpose of censuring the committee, but rather, that the fact may appear that the above promises and assurances were not made to our soldiers, now in the field, by irresponsible parties, but by men of the highest standing and worth both in private and official life—men whose word was given not as individuals but in behalf of the whole community, and upon whose assurance

UNDERCURRENTS.

By T. TEMPLETON THOMAS.
(For the Janesville Gazette.)
Like streams that flow through unseen caves,
And wash the jewels there unseen,
Like undercurrents, in the waves,
That flow, the floating pearls between;
So 'neath the granite crust of life—
Beneath the billows' smooth gleams,
In depths below the surface floats—
There flow, and pearls the silent streams.
They flow with music all their own,
And give in solemn, thrilling rhyme,
The spirit's sacred undertone,
The deeper melodies of Time.
The thoughts that are too deep for tears,
The wish, the yearning, the dream,
The unspoken dream, and hope and fear,
And all the untold soul's unrest.
A hundred noisy brooks may leap
In sunlight on the outer world,
And dash, like diamonds down the steep,
And wave, like pearls, the foam untold,
But underneath, that darkly glow,
Through thought's most rosiest caverns—
Along life's truest diamonds flow,
And catch their death, amid the gloom.
Ait, vain, the watchful billows roll,
To those who to their ears have pressed
The seashell of that deeper soul,
And hear what cannot be expressed;
For life is full of waiting tones,
That would, but cannot, be so free,
Unspoken songs and silent groans,
That give the key to destiny.

is now nearly improved, and will hereafter be called the BADGER.

The feeling principle of the new drill is the same as that of the old, but the arrangement is quite different, and very much improved.

The workmanship is also much better than the old drill.

We will not claim that the Badger is better than the other drills, but we will say that it is made by experienced workmen, under my own supervision, and will say that it should be compared with the best drill made.

The frame is made of summer seasonal white ash, from the forests of Indiana.

LOCAL MATTERS.

RYAN'S MINSTRELS.—The entertainment given by Ryan's Minstrels at Lippin's Hall, last evening was well attended, and we learn gave excellent satisfaction. They have been playing in Madison for a number of evenings and the Madison papers have spoken very flatteringly of them.—They perform again this evening.

A HANDSOME COMPLIMENT.—Henry C. Cook of Harmony, in this county, who entered the military service in the 108th Illinois regiment, as a private has been promoted to the position of 1st Lieut. of Co. "H" in the same regiment. This unsought promotion speaks well for the gentlemanly and soldierly qualities of Lieut. C.

SMALL POX.—This loathsome disease, as we learn by our exchanges, is very prevalent throughout the West and our own State is not exempt from its visitation. We would suggest to our citizens that as vaccination is an almost certain preventive they ought not, under any circumstances, to neglect such an important sanitary measure. We learn that our physicians are vaccinating all who apply to them. None of our citizens should neglect so important a matter.

CONNECTION.—Messrs. Editors:—I write you for the purpose of asking you to correct an item of information that appeared in your paper last night. Lieut. Kimball did not say his "squadron" was ordered to Jackson, but that an expedition was being fitted out for some place, and the presumption was that their destination was Jackson and Canton. But it would scarcely be worth one's while to change the direction of any letters on the strength of the supposition. If you will make the correction you will much oblige.

Yours respectfully,
H. M. KIMBALL.

A BEAUTIFUL AND DESERVED PRESENT.—We have been shown a beautiful sword, such, belt and trimmings to be presented to Capt. N. PARKER, by the Company of new recruits enlisted by him for the 2d Wisconsin Cavalry. The sword is handsomely embellished with appropriate devices and the scabbard is of the finest material. They were purchased of A. B. Van Cott, of Milwaukee. The formal presentation is to take place at Woolworth's to-morrow at 10 o'clock. M. These articles can be seen at the jewelry store of J. A. Webb.

FOR THE BOYS IN THE FIELD.—Some idea of the esteem of the people for our soldier boys may be drawn from the fact that Mr. Curtis, at the People's Drug Store, yesterday packed a box weighing 430 lbs., for the 12th Wisconsin Battery, to be sent through by Express, their friends furnishing the things and paying the freight.—The box contained a little of almost every thing useful in camp or home life, and we trust the boys will receive them with open arms as well as smiling faces.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—In a brief local yesterday you recommended that the city fathers put up the names of the streets upon the corners of them and also to number the buildings. The expense you think would be but a trifle. This would all be proper enough in ordinary times even if the expenses should amount to four or five hundred dollars, which would be the probable cost. Now the city of Janesville, financially, is in a reasonably good condition compared with other cities of the State, but still, when we take into consideration that several thousand school bonds are yet out, that the bounty recently voted to pay volunteers to fill our quota, and that other matters requiring quite a large outlay are in process of settlement, it is not best to avoid any unnecessary expenditures which we deem this would be.

Further, the city of Janesville is not yet so large that citizens or strangers need have any particular trouble in threading the intricate ways of its well laid out streets. We deem that under the circumstances the city fathers did well in rejecting a proposition last Friday evening which you recommended. Corporations, like individuals, should avoid unnecessary expenditures in times like these.

An Interesting Conversation, and What Came of It.
"Good morning, neighbor Hoyt."
"Good morning, Mr. Ward, good morning. Are you just on the way from town?"
"Yes, I went yesterday."
"What's the news, and what did you get for wheat?"
"Well, I heard something about running Ben Butler for the next President, but I was in a hurry, so hurried for Old Abe and left. I got $1.15 for my wheat."
"That's pretty good. By the way, neighbor Hoyt, have you got any good seed wheat to sell me next spring?"
"Well, yes, I guess I can spare you some. How much do you want?"
"Well, I shall want to sow 80 acres; twice 80 is 160. I shall want 160 bushels."
"What! 160 bushels on 80 acres? You don't mean to say you sow two bushels to the acre, do you?"
"Oh! yes. I always sow two bushels of wheat to the acre."
"But do you think it necessary to sow so much to the acre?"
"Well, you see, there is a good deal that don't grow to amount to anything, because we can't cover it up deep enough to keep the rains from washing it out of the ground. I remember last spring when I sowed my ten acre lot, and dragged it both ways, and left it in good shape, all covered nicely. There came a smart shower on it three or four days after, and the next day I was going across it and I declare there was sight of it on top of the ground, and of course we have to sow enough to allow for what we don't cover, and what the rain uncovers."

"Oh! yes, Mr. Ward, that's the way with broadcast sowing, I know. But why don't you get a drill, and then you would save all that waste? I have had one of Richardson's drills for two years, and I don't sow but one bushel and a half to the acre, and I think it is enough, and as good as two bushels broadcast."

"But how is that, neighbor Hoyt. I don't see how you can make that out."

"Well, you see the drill is made so you can gauge it just any depth you wish. Then, you know, the drill leaves the wheat in a little furrow, so that when it rains or the wind blows it covers the wheat deeper instead of uncovering it."

"Well, now I like that first rate. I've heard about these drills but never thought they were what they were cracked up to be. How is it about working them, some say it is very hard work for the team?"

"Well, you see there is a good deal of difference in drills. Mine is one of Richardson's 11 tooth, made two years ago, and it runs very light. I would as soon my colts would draw it as to draw a drag."

"Now I don't see how that is, for neighbor Bennett has a 9 tooth drill and he told me it was very hard work for his large team."

"Well, I guess his is one of the Ohio Drill. I am told that they do run hard."

"But what should make the difference, I wonder?"

"Oh! it is the way they are geared. If you should see the machine you would see at once."

"How does Richardson sell his drills this year?"

"Well, I paid eighty dollars for mine two years ago, but I guess they are higher now, for he has improved them very much this year."

"Well, I am just going to town, and I'll go and see Richardson; if I should get a drill it would save me 40 bushels of wheat, according to your figures, that would be forty dollars at least."

"That's so. Then there is your oats and barley besides."

"Well, you may save me 120 bushels of wheat, and I will get one of Richardson's Drills. I saw he says we need not keep them if they don't work well. Good day."
